

It would be in democracy's best interest to maintain a variety of diverse news sources rather than having gigantic corporate interests behind television, newspaper, and radio news outlets in the same region.